Following a biopsy or surgical procedure, the tissue will be sent to a lab to identify potential disease (histopathology) and a formal report will be returned to the doctor.

The Medicare fee for histopathology is result dependent so can't be billed until after the lab report has been completed. This ensures accurate billing according to Medicare rules.

When the report is received, usually 7-10 days after your procedure, the results will be discussed with you by your doctor. We recommend booking an appointment 7-10 days after your procedure to discuss the results as well as allowing the doctor to review the wound.

The histopathology will be billed upon receipt of the report and you will receive an invoice for this amount. This amount will be fully rebated by Medicare once paid.
